

AIR FRANCE'S NEW LONG-HAUL CABINS SERVE 5 ADDITIONAL DESTINATIONS

News / Airports / Routes

The move upmarket of Air France's products and services is gaining momentum. This week, the Company is increasing the number of destinations served by its new long-haul cabins by introducing them on 5 additional routes on departure from Paris-Charles de Gaulle.

Customers can now enjoy optimum comfort during their trips to Buenos Aires, Montevideo, Boston, Bangalore and Osaka. These exceptional cabins are available on certain flights operated by Boeing 777-200.

On board, customers enjoy a real cocoon in the sky in Business class, and completely redesigned seats in Premium Economy and Economy. You can even discover this new way to travel before you board, on best.airfrance.com.

Thanks to the progressive introduction of these new cabins on board the Boeing 777, at the heart of Air France's long-haul fleet, the Company will have a total of 30 aircraft serving some 28 destinations worldwide at the end of the winter season (March 2016) -

The Air France hub at Paris-Charles de Gaulle* ; North America – Boston, Los Angeles, New York*, Toronto, Washington* ; South America – Buenos Aires, Montevideo, Panama-City, Sao Paulo*; Africa – Abidjan*, Bangui, Douala, Johannesburg*, Libreville*, Malabo, Yaoundé* ; Middle East – Beirut*, Dubai* ; India – Bangalore ; Asia – Beijing*, Guangzhou, Hong-Kong*, Jakarta*, Osaka, Shanghai*, Singapore*, Tokyo (Haneda* and Narita airports).

*the new La Première designer suites are also available to these destinations during the winter season.

Air France named “world’s most improved airline” in 2015

In June 2014, Air France unveiled its first Boeing 777 equipped with the new long-haul travel cabins. One year later, the Company is reaping the benefits of its efforts and has recorded significant progress in terms of customer satisfaction. In June 2015, Air France received two awards from Skytrax: World’s Most Improved Airline and, for the second consecutive year, Best First Class Airline Lounge Dining. These awards were presented to the Company at the World Airline Awards, an opportunity for Skytrax to issue a ranking which is a reference in the field of air transport. Both awards received by Air France are the result of a satisfaction survey, carried out online with close to 19 million customers.

29 OCTOBER 2015

ARTICLE LINK:

<https://to.50skyshades.com/news/airports-routes/air-frances-new-long-haul-cabins-serve-5-additional-destinations>